

Life as a Scientist

Read the different descriptions at the bottom of the page. Cut out the ones that best describe scientists and paste them around the scientists below.

What is a scientist like?

They are curious and ask questions.	They don't work in teams.
They have all the answers.	They work together to find solutions.
They explore the unknown and discover new things.	They are open to new ideas.
They share their solutions with others.	They don't like to ask questions.
They keep their work a secret.	They can work indoors and outdoors.
They help protect ecosystems.	They only use expensive equipment.
They only work in a laboratory.	They are working to make the future better.