

THE WATER CONNECTS US ALL

We're seeking 10 educators and their students to participate in a unique and impactful project aimed at creating sustainable, community connected learning experiences for classrooms across South Louisiana:

- All-expense paid opportunities for teachers to travel and explore the Mississippi River watershed from Lake Itasca, Minnesota to Wax Lake, an active Louisiana Delta
- Outdoor learning opportunities for students in your local area that bring science and the environment to life
- Receive resources, mentorship, and support as you lead your students in learning about local environments
- Share insights with educators from around the state at a professional conference
